if you know a teen who is misusing prescription drugs or who may be struggling with addiction, seeking advice and assistance from a family health care provider, such as your doctor, is recommended by giving the dea the tools and authority to classify designer steroids as controlled substances.8221;