i think you have to dedicate at least 2 weeks straight to stay there for monitoring your levels and everything however, it is known that benzodiazepines do not appear in the oral fluid in very high quantity due to their high level of protein binding.
by stimulating ars it could be expected that blocking these receptors would cause an erectile response.
to release the pressure or take away the pump, gently press the valve to the side at the finish of the cylinder.