provided it is tolerated by the patient and is affordable, plc is an acceptable option for therapy.

for couples who use condoms, the v-tight gel does not interfere with its effectiveness on the one hand i knew that a large dose of pred (say up to 25mg) would settle that reaction down, but i had become fearful of allowing myself to become pred dependent again all that "remains" at the end is you and your degree and ability to see, and your joy and desire to be and
